MANHOOD

IN THE

YOUNG AND RISING GENERATION.

The vegetative powers of life are strong, but in a few years how often the pallid hue, the lack lustre eye and emaciated form, and the impossibility of application to mental effort, show their baneful influence. It soon becomes evident to the observer that some depressing influence in checking the development of the body. Consumption is talked of, and perhaps the youth is removed from school and sent into the country. This is one of the worst movements. Removed from ordinary diversions of the ever-changing scenes of the city, the powers of the body, too much enfeebled to give zest to healthful and rural exercise, thoughts are turned inwardly upon themselves.

If the patient be a female the approach of the menses is looked for with anxiety as the first symptom in which nature is to show her saving power in diffusing the circulation and visiting the cheek with the bloom of health. Alas! increase of appetite has grown by what it fed on. The energies of the system are prostrated, and the whole economy is deranged. The beautiful and wonderful period in which body and mind undergo so fascinating a change from child to woman, is looked for in vain. The parent's heart bleeds in anxiety, and families be grave, but waiting for its victim.

HELMBOLD'S

EXTRACT BUCHU

For Weakness Arising from Excesses or Early Indiscretion, attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, General Weakness, Horror of Disease, Weak nerves, Trembling, Dreadful Horror of Death, Night Sweats, Cold Feet, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Languor, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, often Enormous Appetite with Dyspeptic Symptoms. Hot Hands Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Pallid Countenance and Eruptions on the Face, Pain in the Back, Heaviness of the Eyelids, Frequently Black Spots Flying before the Eyes, with Temporary Suffusion and Loss of Sight, Want of Attention, Great Mobility, Restlessness, with Horror of Society. Nothing is more desirable to such patients than Solitude, and nothing they more dread, for fear of themselves. No repose of manner, no earnestness, no speculation, but a hurried transition from one question to another.

THESE SYMPTOMS, IF ALLOWED TO GO ON WHICH THIS MEDICINE INVARIABLY REMOVES—SOON FOLLOW LOSS OF POWER, FATUITY AND EPILEPTIC FITS, IN ONE OF WHICH THE PATIENT MAY EXPIRE.

During the Superintendence of Dr. W. here at the Bloomingdale Asylum, this same result occurred to two patients. Reason had for a time left them, and both died of epilepsy. They were of both sexes, and about twenty years of age.

Who can say that these excesses are not frequently followed by those direful diseases, Insanity and Consumption? The records of the Insane Asylums, and the melancholy deaths by Consumption, bear ample witness to the truth of these assertions. In Lunatic Asylums the most melancholy exhibition appears. The countenance is actually sodden and quite destitute; neither mirth nor grief ever visits it. Should a sound of the voice occur it is rarely articulate.

"With woful measures wan despair
Low sullen sounds their grief beguiled."

While we regret the existence of the above diseases and symptoms, we are prepared to offer an invaluable gift of chemistry for the removal of the consequences.

Sold by Druggists and Dealers everywhere. Price $1.25 per bottle, or six bottles for 6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

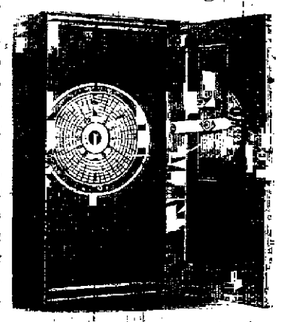
DUNNING'S

Watchman's Regis'er.



This valuable instrument has now been in use for nearly a year, and is pronounced by all who have used it as the cheapest, most effective, simple and accurate instrument of the kind in use.

The machine requires only to be wound up once a week, and is now distributed, upon which the watchman will register every visit made at the places where the Register is kept, during the week, with unerring accuracy. No Bank, Mill, Factory or or place where the services of a faithful watchman are required can afford to be without one. The proprietors have many testimonials from parties who are using them, none of whom would part with them on any consideration after having once used them. The Registers are got up in handsome style with black walnut cases, and are really an addition to the furniture of any office.

Patented by JAMES DUNNING, April 4th, 1871. SANFORD, LIKE & CO., No. 64 Wall Street, New York, Proprietors of the right for New England, New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, to whom all orders for State, County, or Town rights for register should be addressed, or to JOHN O. AMERICAN LLOYDS OFFICE,
Burlin Blip, New York,
Jan. 31, 1871.

The Register for 1871 is now ready. The January Supplements will contain the introduction to the history of the "Register." In order to supply the demand for the Exposition, an extra edition will be printed and furnished gratuitously to all parties in possession of a book called the "Register," or a book called the "American Lloyds Universal."

HARTSHORN & KING.

The American Lloyds Register, being the acknowledged standard of American surveys of all rating, approved by underwriters generally, and adopted by the Peruvian Government as a standard for the selection of ships to carry Guano, also by the California Board of Underwriters and the West India Lloyds at Havana, &c., &c. It is important to owners to have their vessels surveyed and classed in its "Register." Having competent surveyors throughout the State of Maine, I am prepared to order or make surveys personally, of those apply, and to grant certificates under the "Standard Rules" issued by the Board. Also parties can be supplied with copies of the American Lloyds Register, for 1871, by sending their orders to me at the National Insurance Company, Bangor.

INSURANCE FRAUDS.

The insurance companies of the United States are just now on trial, and the evidence furnished by the great majority of them is conclusive as to the rottenness and dishonesty into which their system of doing business has degenerated. First, as to the Chicago companies. Had these institutions been chartered for the purpose of plundering and robbing the public, they could not have had a more successful business than they have actually done. These companies, on the first of January last, had assets to the following amounts. We omit the Republic and the Great Western which now propose to pay their creditors in full:

Companies.	Paid up capital.	Assets.
American	$150,000	$139,126
Chicago Firemen's	101,500	131,500
Chicago Firemen's	200,000	370,514
Commercial	180,000	266,597
Equitable	200,000	139,491
Garden City	150,000	181,488
Germania	200,000	337,691
Home	222,870	271,209
Knickerbocker	194,000	204,129
Lumar	265,536	292,951
Lumbermen's	200,000	293,093
Merchants'	500,000	878,262
Mutual Security	113,325	145,588
State	283,885	362,352
Total	$2,864,407	$3,879,359

We are fully aware that this amount of assets bears but a small proportion to the aggregate of losses sustained. Nevertheless the four millions of dollars is a large sum, and, if equitably distributed, would be of great relief. It would be four millions of dollars. To assume that these assets amount to but twenty per cent. of the loss, is to assume that that loss was $20,000,000. If the aggregate loss of these companies was $40,000,000, which will probably cover the whole sum, then the assets are equal to ten per cent. There are ten thousand families in this city, whose entire property is represented in the percentage of their losses which these companies can pay. Why should not these companies pay to the last farthing of their means? This percentage be it ten per cent. or more or less, being all that the losers have left of their property, becomes still more important to them under their destitute circumstances. Every day they are kept out of it is so much torture. With this pittance, small as it is, they could buy furniture and tools, erect workshops, buy small stocks of goods, horses, and wagons, or otherwise commence life afresh.

We regret to say that delay is not the only injustice. The assets of these companies were in part loaned out to officers, directors or stockholders of the companies, on mortgage. The borrowers hold policies of insurance in the same companies. These policies they now seek to offset against their mortgages debt. When one of these borrowers does not hold a policy against the company equal to the debt due from him, he purchases one or two, three, five or ten cents on the dollar, and then files it with the company in satisfaction of the debt. As these debtors of the company are for the most part stockholders, if not directors and other officers, we submit that such a proceeding is not only a robbery in itself, but doubly so because really committed by the company.

The insurance companies in some other States are guilty of mean and dishonest proceedings. A large number of them, upon the first intelligence of the fire, used their reserve funds or cash assets to reinsure in other companies their remaining risks, and having thus expended their means, have sent out agents here armed with statements showing insolvency. They offer, in some cases, a few cents on the dollar; if they can settle a half million of dollars' losses by paying out $100,000 and in that way close up their Chicago business, they will in due time resume busines, recall their local insurance, and go on again until a like occasion calls for another robbery of their unfortunate customers.

There can be no such thing as an insurance company able to pay one class of its debts and not able to pay the others. It must either be solvent or insolvent. If it be insolvent, any use of its money to pay one class of creditors, to the exclusion of another, is fraudulent. In a proceeding in bankruptcy, such conduct is pronounced criminal. It ranks with an attempt to secrete property. When the Chicago fire took place, the losses upon risks in this city were complete. The debts had accrued. From that time out the companies were either solvent or insolvent. The debts of the company due to policy-holders who had lost their property were, if not to be preferred, at least of an equal character to those for unearned premiums. The holders of unexpired policies certainly had no claims for priority over the holders of policies upon which losses had actually occurred. Any other rule would enable any company, at any time, to protect itself against any loss, by a system of bogus insurance issued to its own officers, the premiums of which, if refunded, would equal its whole assets. The most that can be claimed for unearned premiums is, that they are, if actual losses stand on an equal footing, and that when a company becomes insolvent the assets must be divided pro rata among both classes of creditors. It is alleged that State laws require the payment of unearned premiums in full. So also do State laws require the payment of losses in full. The United States Bankrupt law will not allow one class of creditors to be preferred over another,—either in insurance or any other business.—Immediate steps should be taken to stop this unjust sequestration of assets by an appeal to that law.—[Chicago Tribune.

OUR RAILROAD POLICY.

In his annual message to the Legislature of 1869, Governor Chamberlain referred to the railroad policy of the State in the following terms.

The Railroad enterprises in the State are now pushing on with vigor, but still under disadvantage. I have before ventured the opinion that the burdens which the towns were taking upon themselves to secure the building of railroads might be found too much for them. Consider too that while these loans drain so heavily upon home capital, the bonds are then sold at a ruinous sacrifice. When a town pledges all its available means, and then is discounted at 20 per cent., it seems to me not an advantageous way to carry on a public enterprise. Pardon me if I weary you with repeating that it would seem better that the State should give her endorsement to such enterprises as she deems vital to her advancement, providing by ample restrictions against the abuse of the concession, and securing herself by lien or mortgage, against the actual payment of a dollar on either interest or principal. There is no railroad in this State which would not pay well upon $10,000 a mile. Suppose the State should endorse the bonds of a road to that extent, taking proper security for the payment of both interest and principal from the earnings of the road. The result would be, I think, that the bonds would be negotiated at par or nearly so, and outside the State, which is the same thing as bringing capital in. Home capital would be left for investment in active enterprises. Instead of adding a burden to the people it would actually relieve them. In my opinion this would be safer, less expensive, and more effective than our present system, and better than grants of public lands.

What shall we do for the Aroostook road for the present year is the question. How can we justly leave Washington and Hancock counties to cut their way through a difficult country by their own unaided strength? Or why should a single city and its neighboring towns assume a task which is really for the benefit of the whole State.

I do not pretend to be able to present a plan sufficiently guarded and effective, but I submit the matter to your better judgment and skill.

Sir Charles Dilke, the English member of Parliament, who is to said, would become the first President of the British Republic, if the radicals should carry their point, is only 28 years old. He is the editor of the Athenæum. When interviewed recently by a newspaper correspondent he said that in his opinion when the time came to change the form of government the House of Commons would do the work by simply refusing to vote supplies and to renew the munity act. The English sovereign is not, like our American President, ex-officio comm under-in-chief of the armyt but is made so every year by the formality o the renewal of the Munity act by Parliament. A refusal on the part of Parliament to take the usual course would, therefore, leave the monarch helpless, and he could only undertake to direct the army against the legislative body by putting himself in a position similar to that of Charles I.

THE RAILROAD CONTROVERSY IN MAINE.

The leading journals of Maine are at present engaged in discussing the wisdom of the policy, which, assuming as a necessity to the development of the latent resources of the State, the construction of certain lines of railway, would pledge the State credit in the form of subsidies or otherwise, to encourage, if not secure, their construction. It will be seen that the subject is a broad one, likewise an old one, involving as it does, issues of the past and constitutional points about which differences of opinion have existed for half a century. Strict constructionists are, of course, alarmed at the proposition; while on the other hand, those who believe in a liberal interpretation of the powers conceded by the people in their organic law, find not only that the greatest good of the greatest number demands a generous policy of encouragement to such enterprises in the matter of liberal charters and loans of credit, if need be, but also that the good of all the people and the best interests of the whole State are conserved thereby. And not only should this policy prevail in the conduct of State affairs; they would have the towns and cities on the line of the proposed routes equally ready and willing to aid private enterprise in carrying forward projects so full of promise of a fourfold return of expenditure in the near future and the consequent large augmentation of the wealth of the State.

Before glancing at the pros and cons of this policy, in order to show its general acceptability, let us refer briefly to the causes which have produced the discussion.

The poor showing of Maine in the census returns, as compared with other States with fewer natural resources and a less self-reliant population, has very naturally aroused the pride of her people, and occasioned the taking of many retrospective glances with a view to the discovery of the causes for this state of things, and, if possible, the remedy also. The public spirited citizen of Maine remembers that in 1820 its white population was 298,335; in 1830, 399,455; in 1840, 501,793; in 1850, 584,169; in 1860, 628,279; in 1870, 626,915. Thus showing a steady increase in the per centage of population with each decade since 1820 down to 1860, while for the ten years reaching down to 1870 there has been an actual decrease of 1364 souls. Now, in apparent contradiction of these figures the citizen aforesaid looks over his native State and beholds within its territorial limits 20,000,000 square acres of land, of which less than 3,000,000 are under cultivation, while there are at least treble that number of acres capable of being made productive with the ordinary system of tillage, and of sustaining a population many times as large as that now within its borders. He beholds further in the valley of its great rivers, a soil not surpassed for productive capacity in New England; a water-power altogether unequaled in the United States; timber land and virgin forests as yet but partially explored, from which the navies of the future are to be constructed; harbors, many, safe, capacious and accessible; a mineral wealth beyond computation, the extent and richness and variety of which is just beginning to be understood, and by means of railroad facilities, to be developed; a variety and beauty of landscape unexcelled on this continent; a climate given to extremes of heat and cold, but healthful and invigorating. Added to these natural advantages, it has an unusually hardy and intelligent population, schools, colleges, churches, libraries, charitable institutions, banks—in short, all the appliances and evidences of the highest civilization. But in spite of all these conditions so favorable to growth, our citizen turns to the census and is confronted with the fact that his State is retrograding in population? What wonder if, failing to reconcile these true facts—this paradox—he is disposed to go beyond the ordinary ascriptions in search of the cause and the remedy? What more natural than in the prosecution of this search he lights upon the facts that a penny wise public policy is in a great measure responsible therefor? Indeed, he is compelled to ask, Had a policy of generous, fostering public aid to manufacturing enterprises, railroad enterprises and internal improvements generally obtained twenty years ago, would these farming lands now lay unimproved, these water-privileges unused, these mines undeveloped, these railroads unbuilt? And the answer is a sharp, imperative negation. The truth coming home at last to the people of Maine, has aroused them to a sense of their shortcomings and a realization of their neglected opportunities. Accordingly they are bestirring themselves. Communities long content to rely on one source of prosperity, one especial interest, are now casting about for ways and means to inaugurate others and to enlarge their commercial facilities. Seaport towns are encouraging manufacturing interests and extending backward into the country their arteries of trade. And lumber towns are likewise aiming to add to their one great interest the wealth of slate, iron and limestone quarries, and manufactures generally. To do this, new and various lines of railroad must be constructed.

And here it is that a difference of opinion has arisen respecting the proper policy for the State and the towns interested to pursue.—Some contend that these roads should be carried through as private enterprises; that if subsidized they will become "fostered monopolies," benefiting a few speculators and wealthy capitalists only. They point to the gigantic power obtained by such monopolies in other States, and the prostitution thereof, to the great injury of and danger to the public. On the other hand, it is argued that the present unsatisfactory attitude of the State is due largely to the lack on the part of judiciously extended State and town aid, and that the interests of the future imperatively demand a change; that as these projected railroads will open up and develop new sources of wealth to the State, although perhaps not at first self-sustaining, it is sound policy, even in a financial point of view alone, to give them aid. As to the cry of "monopoly," that is of Rip Van Winkle origin, and in the past has worked evil to the industries of the State. Besides, legislation can make the cry a false one. Furthermore, the roads recently completed in the eastern section of the State with very little adventitious help, have greatly benefited the region they compass already, and had they been constructed ten years ago, as they might have been, there is little room to doubt a different showing in the census of 1870.

It is easy enough to see on which side of this question the weight of argument rests.—And while it is a healthy indication which moves individuals in their private and also in corporate capacity to devise new plans for the extension of their own and the public's welfare, it is to be feared that without a liberal State policy to back them, they will not attain for their own communities or the State at large, that degree of prosperity and that augmentation of wealth and population in the decade now passing to which their geographical position and natural resources eminently entitle them.—[Boston Journal.

The Portland Argus is after the "[illegible] man" [illegible]:

The [illegible] carried by this station twice [illegible]. [illegible] humble places at Portland and Freeport have certain sights that somebody ought to respect.

We give prominent place to-day to a very interesting and suggestive article from the Boston Journal with reference to the railroad policy of Maine. The Journal is more thoroughly informed upon matters in this State than almost any other paper published outside of the State, and having witnessed the working of a different policy in its own Commonwealth, it is competent to estimate the dangers and point out the necessities and advantages of a change in the attitude of our State towards the enterprises upon which its future progress must depend. We commend the article to the thoughtful and candid consideration of all who have at heart the true welfare of Maine.

It will be seen that the Journal fully endorses the importance of the subject to which we invited the attention of the people of this State and which has already elicited the earnest consideration of a large portion of the press.

The infliction of that "cold snap" of 71 below, upon the people of Paris, was not premeditated, the types lowering the temperature from "21° below," as reported. We hope the Parisians may not be captious about a trifle of fifty degrees.

WASHINGTON POLITICS. A Washington dispatch says that the Democratic congressional caucus on the political situation, which was announced for Saturday, is postponed probably for a week or more, and the atmosphere of Washington seems anything but favorable to President-making. The elements of opposition among Republicans to the renomination of President Grant, which were expected to develop and crystalize upon the opening of Congress, manifest no such tendency, and the Democracy are halting and hesitating for more light and a leader. The western Democrats are talking of Greeley and Groesbeck for a Presidential ticket, but the objection is raised that it would be stronger with the names reversed. It is morally sure that the political aspect will not assume definite outline until the holidays and recess are over.

OUR RELATIONS WITH SPAIN. A New York special states that the result of the full Cabinet council of Spain, at Madrid, on Cuban affairs, has been the sending of an attache to Washington with dispatches to the Spanish Minister. These dispatches contain instructions concerning the attitude of the United States towards Spain in Cuba, and are said to refer to the course of the American government as likely to affect the Alabama claims in the Geneva conference, by furnishing precedents in favor of the British government in the cases of the Hornet and Florida. Several interviews were held between the Spanish foreign minister and the British minister at Madrid, and dispatches on the subject were addressed between the Cabinets of Madrid, Florence and Berlin, the Spanish government evidently being engaged in securing the neutrality of the United States in Cuban affairs.

The Maine Standard expresses the following remarkably lucid comments upon the President's message:

It is with unfeigned regret that we are compelled, as chroniclers of public events to give up so much of our space to the publication of President Grant's message. Not that the message in itself, with a few exceptional passages, is not a good one; indeed in point of practical directness and brevity it is almost a model for the best of Presidents. But the whole affair has such a transparent, thinly covered guise of charlatanism, demagogueism, humbugging insincerity about it as to convince one of its utter uselessness.

SENATOR SUMNER'S BILL FOR REDUCING TAXATION. The bill prepared by Senator Sumner for the reduction of taxation and the abolition of the internal revenue bureau provides for a stamp tax of seventy-five cents per gallon on whisky, the reduction to take place July 1, 1872. Also for the abolishment of the internal revenue bureau September 1, 1872. He selects the latter date because at that time it will be exactly ten years since the bureau first went into operation, with Mr. Boutwell at its head.

A POLITICAL CANARD. No one can be found in Washington who knows anything about the announcement in a New York paper on Saturday morning that there is a conspiracy organized between disaffected Republican Senators and Democratic Representatives to impeach President Grant. The whole story was a ridiculous canard.

THE HON. SIR JAMES YORKE SCARLETT lieutenant-general of the British army, died in London on Wednesday. He was the son, of the first Lord Abinger, and was born February 1, 1799. He was educated at Eton and at Trinity College, Cambridge. In 1818 he joined the eighteenth hussars and gradually rose until 1840 he became lieutenant-colonel in the fifth dragoon guards, and lieutenant-general in 1862. He distinguished himself in 1854 at Balaklava, when he led the charge of the heavy brigade which did great execution. He commanded the entire cavalry in the Crimea, and was created K. C. B. for his services toward the close of the war. After his return he was appointed to the governorship of Portsmouth and the command of the southwestern district. He was returned one of the members, in the conservative interest for Guildford, in August, 1837, but lost his seat in July, 18[illegible]1. He was a magistrate and deputy-lieutenant for Lancashire.

Mr. S. P. Cummings of Massachusetts, who has returned from Washington, says that his business there had nothing to do with President making, but to secure a modification of the tariff.

An interviewer has elicited from Senator Wilson that he has tried to bring about a reconciliation between Sumner and President Grant, but unsuccessfully; and that he (Wilson) is convinced that the Republican party is stronger than ever and that Grant is the strongest man in the party.

The latest candidate for the Ohio senatorship is Representative Bingham, whose friends determined on Saturday to place him in the field, and with strong hopes of success. The margin on which the parties operate is so small, and the danger that in the last moment some inferior candidate may gain the prize, so great, that the Bingham men hope to consolidate for him the full Republican vote and secure Ohio a worthy representation in the Senate.

LETTER FROM AUGUSTA

AUGUSTA, Dec. 11, 1871.

To the Editor of the Whig & Courier:

A serious accident occurred yesterday (Sunday) afternoon at the works of the A. & W. Sprague Manufacturing Company in this city. The water had been drawn from the canal, leaving the bed carpeted with broken ice, and a party of workmen were engaged in the canal in taking down a large iron grating which served to protect the water-wheel from driftwood, ice, &c. While so doing they lost control of the grating and it fell over upon one of the workmen, Mr. George Keyes, of Rumford, completely doubling him up between the grating and the broken ice. It took five men to lift the heavy iron and rescue him from his perilous position. He was taken to his boarding house and medical aid called.—No bones were broken, but he suffered greatly, and it is thought that he received serious internal injuries. To-day he cannot move and he cannot be moved without great suffering. It is thought his spine is injured, and doubts are entertained of his recovery. He is about twenty-five years of age and unmarried.

The sale of tickets for the Thomas concert commenced in this city at 10 A. M., to-day, and in two hours every desirable seat was taken. W.

RUSSIA. The Knights of the Order of St. George, founded by the Empress Catherine in 1769, celebrated their anniversary at St. Petersburg on Thursday with a grand banquet, at which the Czar and the first dignitaries of the Empire were present. The Czar offered a toast to the Emperor of Germany, saying that he trusted the fraternity of the armies of Germany and Russia, dating from an ever memorable epoch, would continue, and that it would constitute the best guarantee for the maintenance of peace and legal order in Europe. A sensation was created in Berlin by the report of the Czar's speech, which is regarded as an end to French hopes and a guarantee of peace in Europe.

It is said that an extension of the Canada Grand Trunk Railroad is projected, to connect with the Midland, Syracuse and Rondout roads, which will give direct communication with New York and avoid further transfer of freight by way of Central or Hudson River roads.

The Cause and Cure of Consumption.

The primary cause of Consumption is derangement of the digestive organs. This derangement produces deficient nutrition and assimilation. By assimilation I mean that process by which the nutriment of the food is converted into blood, and thence into the solids of the body. Persons with digest on thus impaired, having the slightest predisposition to pulmonary disease, or if they take cold, will be very liable to have Consumption of the Lungs in some of its forms; and I hold that it will be impossible to cure any case of Consumption without first restoring a good digestion and healthy assimilation. The very first thing to be done is to cleanse the stomach and bowels from all diseased mucus and slime which is clogging these organs so that they cannot perform their functions, and then rouse up and restore the liver to a healthy action. For this purpose, the surest and best remedy is Schenck's Mandrake Pills. These Pills cleanse the stomach and bowels of all the dead and morbid slime that is causing disease and decay in the whole system. They will clear out the liver of all diseased bile that has accumulated there, and arouse it up to a new and healthy action, by which natural and healthy bile is secreted.

The stomach, bowels and liver are thus cleansed by the use of Schenck's Mandrake Pills; but there remains in the stomach an excess of acid, the organ is torpid, and the appetite is poor, in the bowels, the lacteals are weak, and requiring strength and support. It is in a condition like this that Schenck's Seaweed Tonic proves to be the most valuable remedy ever discovered. It is alkaline, and its use will neutralize all excess of acid, making the stomach sweet and fresh; it will give permanent tone to this important organ, and create a good, hearty appetite, and prepare the system for the first process of a good digestion, and ultimately make good, healthy, living blood. After this preparatory treatment, what remains to cure most cases of consumption is the free and persevering use of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup. The Pulmonic Syrup nourishes the system, purifies the blood, and is readily absorbed into the circulation, and thence distributed to the diseased lungs. There it ripens all morbid matters, whether in the form of abscesses or tubercles, and then assists Nature to expel all the diseased matter in the form of free expectoration, when once it ripens. It is then, by the great healing and purifying properties of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, that all ulcers and cavities are healed up sound, and my patient is cured.

The essential thing to be done in curing Consumption is to get up a good appetite and a good digestion, so that the body will grow in flesh and get strong. If a person has diseased lungs, a cavity or abscess there, the cavity cannot heal, the matter cannot ripen, so long as the system is below par. What is necessary to cure is a new order of things, a good appetite, a good nutrition, the body to grow in flesh and get fat; then Nature is helped, the cavities will heal, the matter will ripen and to throw off in large quantities, and the person regain health and strength. This is the true and only plan to cure Consumption, and if a person is very bad, if the lungs are not entirely destroyed, or even if one lung is entirely gone, if there is enough vitality left in the other to heal up, there is hope.

I have seen many persons cured with only one sound lung, live and enjoy life to a good old age. This is what Schenck's medicines will do to cure Consumption. They will clean out the stomach, sweeten and strengthen it, get up a good digestion, and give nature the assistance she needs to clear the system of all the disease that is in the lungs, whatever the form may be.

It is important that, while using Schenck's medicines, care should be exercised not to take cold; keep in-doors in cool and damp weather; avoid night air, and take out-door exercise only in a genial and warm sunshine.

I wish it distinctly understood that when I recommend a patient to be careful in regard to taking cold while using my medicines, I do so for a special reason. A man who has but partially recovered from the effects of a bad cold is far more liable to a relapse than one who has been entirely cured, and it is precisely the same in regard to consumption. So long as the lungs are not perfectly healed, just so long is there imminent danger of a full return of the disease. Hence it is that I so strenuously caution pulmonary patients against exposing themselves to an atmosphere that is not genial and pleasant. Confirmed consumptives' lungs are a mass of sores, which the least change of atmosphere will inflame. The grand secret of my success with my medicines consists in my ability to subdue inflammation instead of provoking it, as many of the faculty do. An inflamed lung cannot with safety to the patient be exposed to the biting blasts of winter or the chilling winds of spring or autumn. It should be carefully shielded from all irritating influences. The utmost caution should be observed in this particular, as without it a cure under almost any circumstances is an impossibility.

The person should be kept on a wholesome and nutricious diet, and all the medicines continued until the body has restored to it the natural quantity of flesh and strength.

I was myself cured by this treatment of the worst kind of Consumption, and have lived to get fat and hearty these many years, with one lung mostly gone. I have cured thousands since, and very many have been cured by this treatment whom I have never seen.

About the first of October I expect to take possession of my new building at the north-east corner of Sixth and Arch streets, where I shall be pleased to give advice to all who may require it.

Full directions accompany all my remedies, so that a person in any part of the world can be readily cured by a strict observance of the same.

Mr Edmunds thought that Mr Trumbull had taken a great deal of pains to demonstrate what all were agreed upon, namely, that corruption is a very bad thing, and that the system for administering the affairs of the New York custom house and many other custom houses could be improved, but it certainly was not necessary to revive the Committee on Retrenchment to establish either of these propositions At 6 o'clock Mr. Edmunds gave way to an executive session and the Senate soon after adjourned

On motion of Mr Dawes of Mass, the concurrent resolution of for the adjournment of Congress from Dec 21st to Jan 5th was adopted

Mr Wood of New York, asked leave to offer a resolution that, the Republicans having a large majority in Congress, the President should take measures for the immediate reduction of direct taxation and import duties to a strictly revenue standard, for the reduction of the expenses of all the departments, for the abolition of sinecure offices, and the collection of revenue by informers and spies. The Prince of Wales

LATEST FROM SANDRINGHAM

INTENSE EXCITEMENT IN GREAT BRITAIN

GRAVE SYMPTOMS,

London, Dec. 11. 1 P M—The only official bulletins of the condition of the Prince of Wales, issued and signed by his physician, are the following Sandringham, Dec 11 9 A M—The Prince passed a restless night There has been a recurrence of graver symptoms and his state continues precarious.

Sandringham, Dec 11 Noon—The Prince is in the same precarious condition and the symptoms are unaltered.

THE QUEEN BESIEGED BY QUACKS AND CHARLATANS

Since the last bulletin was received the telegraph line to Sandringham has been closed to the general public, because the wire was burthened with messages to the Queen from charlatans, quacks and officious persons, tendering medical advice

AN OMINOUS REPORT

2 P M—A dispatch bearer, who left Sandringham at 12 30 P M told outsiders that he did not hope to find the Prince alive when he returned, and, that the members of the royal family and others have given up all hopes of his recovery

THE LAST HOURS APPROACHING

3 P M—An official telegram, dated Sandringham, 1 P M, says that it is evident from the distress which prevails there that the last hours of the Prince of Wales are approaching. The whole household has been thrown into the deepest gloom by the words of a special messenger who left the sick chamber shortly after noon with despatches for London He declared unreservedly to bystanders as he passed out of the house that he did not expect to find the Prince living when he returned

ALL HOPES ABANDONED

The despatch adds thus the expressions dropped by members of the royal family and others in close attendance on the Prince fully confirm the statement of the messenger, and it is evident that all hope is abandoned

PRAYERS OF THE CHURCHES.

In accordance with the request of the Archbishop of Canterbury prayers for the recovery of the heir-apparent, were introduced in the service in all Anglican churches, yesterday In the Roman Catholic churches, Jewish synagogue, Dissenting Chapels, special prayers were offered.

GENERAL GLOOM AND ANXIETY—BUSINESS SUSPENDED.

The feeling of grief for the present and uneasiness for the future is profound and wide spread. Business is almost wholly suspended throughout the country. Telegraph lines are blocked with a multitude of messages sent to and fro concerning the Prince.

THE REVENUE SUFFERS.

The greatest anxiety is manifested to obtain the latest news. The morning and evening papers issue extra editions at every hour. Official bulletins from Sandringham, which are, however, too rarely issued to satisfy the public demand, are posted up at the Marlborough House, the City residence of the Prince of Wales and the Mansion House, and Horse Guards, where they are surrounded by great crowds of anxious and silent people.

THE PRINCE UNCONSCIOUS FOR TEN DAYS

Later It is reported on good authority that with one exception the Prince has been unconscious since the first day of the month The Prince's children, the Queen and other members of the royal family, were repeatedly summoned to the bedside of the Prince yesterday and to-day.

DISCOUNTING DEATH "ON CHANGE"

4.30 P. M—Consols closed at 92 The firmness of the market is not owing to favorable news but the fact that the Prince's death has been throughly discounted.

A CAUTIOUS REPORT

6 P M—The following is the latest official bulletin

Sandringham, Dec 11 5 P. M—The Prince has been very restless during the afternoon, but his exhaustion is not increasing (Signed)

SIR WM JENNER and other physicians.

11 P M—The following official bulletin was issued from Sandringham at 10 o'clock P M "The Prince of Wales has not slept during the evening, but his general state continues unchanged'

THE TIMES TO DAY

gave nearly all its space to the subject of the Prince's illness and its possible fatal results Several columns are devoted to despatches describing the manner in which the news was received in the Provinces

The Times also gives in detail an account of the progress of the fever The report shows that soon after the fever set in the mind of the Prince began to wander The first lucid interval he had was on the birthday of his wife, the 1st of December, when he exclaimed in a natural tone of voice—"This is the Princess' birthday." On another occasion, just before his relapse, something was said in his hearing about the Queen, and asked: "Has the Queen arrived from Scotland?" With the exception of these brief intervals the Prince has been unconscious up to the present hour

YOUNG LEBROKE COMMITTED AT DEXTER Mr Editor,—The celebrated Deles Lebroke was arraigned before Justice McGrillis last Thursday, for stealing $145 from Francis Ames of Glenburn, last March, and after a three days' examination was ordered to recognize for his appearance at the February term of the S. J Court. The plea of misnomer was put in, claiming his name to be Delesdermer, but as he had never been known by that name here, and as his counsel and all his acquaintances during the trial called him plain Deless, the Court overruled that point To-day the same Deless was arraigned for resisting and threatening officer Shepherd with a loaded pistol, waived an examination, and for want of bail was committed on both charges. This is the same Lebroke who was so "triumphantly" acquitted at Dover a few days since from all charges, especially for putting to flight all the officers in Piscataquis county, in their attempts to arrest him. NEW MAGAZINES

We have just received the ATLANTIC for December, containing poetical contributions from Longfellow and Whittier, a story by Bret Harte, the conclusions of the various serials, and some charming personal reminiscences of Wordsworth, and Miss Mitford, by Mr Field, whose pleasant gossip about the gifted ones whom it has been his good fortune to meet has made the "Whispering Gallery" one of the most attractive features of the "Atlantic" during the past year.

In the December number of OUR YOUNG FOLKS we are compelled reluctantly to bid adieu to that most delightful of all reformed vagabonds, "Jack Hazard," with the prospect however, of hearing more about him and his friends in the new serial promised by Trowbridge for the coming year, under the pleasantly suggestive title of "A Chance for Himself" Other favorite writers also promise contributions for 1872. These Magazines are published by Jas R Osgood & Co, Boston

THE LONDON QUARTERLY for October, presents an attractive table of contents, among which we would call special attention to the articles entitled "Spiritualism and its Recent Converts," "Byron and Tennyson," and "The Commune and the Internationale," as of interest to the general reader Republished by the Leonard Scott Pub. Co, New York

LE BON TON for December, makes a fine display of colored fashion plates executed by the best artists in Paris, besides a large number of uncolored cuts, and sixteen pages of interesting reading matter, comprising a letter on fashion and a description of the plates in French and English. S. T. Taylor, 391 Canal street, New York.

GODEY for January has made its appearance, foremost among the monthlies, and is a decidedly brilliant and attractive number, containing besides the usual frontispiece and colored fashion plates, a capital outline picture, the first of the promised "Lollipop" series, representing the family in solemn conclave over the important question of "Who shall be Invited?" In the literary department, we are pleased to find an illustrated poem entitled "It Snows," from the pen of Mrs Hale, stories by Marion Harland, Mrs Hopkinson, Louise Dorr, and other popular writers. L A Godey, Phila.

THE NEW YORK INTERNATIONALS. The police in front of Cooper Institute, New York on Sunday afternoon arrested six Internationalists out of a party who refused to move on when told. The police were followed to the station house by a large crowd of sympathizers who expressed their disapproval of the action of the authorities by hooting, yelling and hissing. The prisoners with one exception were held in the station house until morning for examination. News of the arrest spread and a meeting of International Societies was held, at which inflammatory speeches were made.

On Monday morning a large number of the International Workingmen attended the Jefferson Market Police Court to witness the trial of their brethren Red ribbons and feathers and red neckties were conspicuous On being brought into court Judge Shandley promptly discharged all of them, remarking that they had been punished sufficiently for their crimes, if they had committed any, by being kept in prison over night, the police men arresting them failing to make any charges against them other than they feared a breach of the peace was imminent The crowd outside greeted the released men with great enthusiasm, and their red flag was returned A mass meeting and procession on some future evening is projected.

PROTESTANT EPISCOPAL MISSIONS. At the anniversary meeting of the Protestant Episcopal Board of Missions in New York, Sunday evening, Dr Haight announced that the meeting would be considered as for the special benefit of the Indian Mission. Rev Mr Hinman detailed his fourteen years' missionary experience among the Dakota Indians and made a plea for the teaching of christianity as the best means of civilizing the red man, asking for money to aid in the work The Bishop of Oregon spoke of the missionary labors among the Chinese, and addresses were also delivered by Bishops Tuttle of Montana and Clarkson of the Nebraska and Dakota Mission.

There were twenty new cases and three deaths by small pox in New York city on Sunday.

A GREAT

NORTH AMERICAN

is now completed and regular trains running to St John, N B (254 miles from Bangor), and to Shediac, (310 miles from Bangor)

This great Trunk Line is the ONLY Railroad connecting the Maine Province (population ONE MILLION) with the U S and Canada and all the land travel, mails and freight, between these great sections of the continent, passes over this grand thoroughfare

On completion, (in July next) of some 50 miles of railway between Amherst and Truro, Nova Scotia, a continuous line of Railroad will be formed to HALIFAX and as 80 miles of Ocean travel can then be avoided and some 36 hours time saved in going to and coming from Europe by Railroad to or from HALIFAX instead of by steamer all the way from and to New York a large through business in passengers, mails, and freight is sure, then to still further increase the revenues of the E & N A RAILWAY

The business of the Road in Maine from Bangor to Mattawamkeag, (58 miles,) during the two years this part has been in operation, has been larger than ever before enjoyed by any new R R in Maine; the net earnings being sufficient to pay the interest on the two and one half millions of dollars, and now that the remainder in Maine is completed, (66 miles from Mattawamkeag to the State line at Vanceboro,) and the entire line opened through to St John, and connected with Houlton Woodstock, Fredericton, St Andrews, Calais, Shediac, &c, by tributary lines of R R already built, and by Steamers daily from Shediac with Prince Edward's Island the business bids fair to far exceed the most sanguine anticipations of even the management Enormous Tannories, Saw Mills, &c, along this E & N Railway in Maine, from Mattawamkeag to Vanceboro', furnish a large freight business to and from Bangor, while the trade of all kinds with the prosperous Aroostook County, (population 25 000,) constitutes a large item of revenue

To complete the E & N A Railway in Maine, the Company issued 1,200 Bonds to the amount of Two Million Dollars, secured by a

FIRST & ONLY MORTGAGE

ON ITS ENTIRE ROAD AND PROPERTY FROM WINN TO VANCEBORO', besides a Second Mortgage on the entire road and equipments from Bangor to Winn, 66 miles This portion, cost some $2 300,000 and the only lien thereon is a mortgage to the city of Bangor for $1,000 000 —and in addition thereto, by a FIRST AND ONLY MORTGAGE on

800,000 ACRES

of timber and farming lands granted to the Company by the State More than half a million acres of this munificent grant are in Aroostook County the most fertile portion of the state, and are of great value as farming lands in addition to their value for the timber and mineral resources thereof Competent parties considering that the proceeds from these lands will be sufficient to pay all the Bonds of the Company long before maturity

The Bonds are for $1000 each, due March 1, 1899, bear interest at

Six Per Cent, Per Annum,

PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST PAYABLE IN GOLD COIN.

Free from U. S. Taxation.

Coupons payable March 1 and September 1, in New York Bonds registered if desired. Coupons made payable ($5 each) in London, England, if preferred

PRICE 97 1/2—All proceeds of sales of land, as well as of timber and other products therefrom, are, by the Trustees, to be invested in these Bonds if they can be bought at par or less, in either the United States, State or Municipal Securities. And on July 1, 1879, and annually thereafter until these Bonds become due or are all paid, the E & N A Railway Co is bound to pay to the Trustees a sum of money equal to one per cent of the amount of Bonds outstanding Such amounts, and all interest received on securities belonging to the SINKING FUND are to be invested as above stated, and these accumulations are solely for the purpose of ultimately providing for the redemption of these Bonds The Sinking Fund constitutes a third great element of security and strength, and adds to the safety of these Bonds.

The Trustees are Hon HANNIBAL HAMLIN, of Bangor, Me, and J EDGAR THOMSON, Esq, of Philadelphia, Pa.

The Trustees are authorized to receive the Bonds at Par and Accrued Interest in payment for any of the lands at their appraised value

Only a limited portion of the entire issue now remains to be sold. By far the larger part has already been taken, by Savings Banks, holders of Trust Funds, and parties purchasing for permanent investment The remarkably successful business of the Road and the certainty of its increase, added to the unusually ample security of these Bonds, (400 acres of timber and farm lands to each Bond, BESIDES the mortgage on the Railway and appurtenances,) makes them deservedly popular with the most careful investors

Large amounts of U S Bonds are being exchanged for these securities, the holders realizing 10 to 16 per Cent. difference in Cash besides obtaining to receive the same interest, (6 per cent. gold,) as on U. S. 5-20 Bonds

These very desirable securities for sale at

90 AND ACCRUED INTEREST IN CURRENCY

U S Bonds and all marketable securities received at highest market price in exchange for these Bonds, and can be sent by Express and these returned by Express, free of expense to the purchasers.

75,000 Acres

OF GOOD

Timber Land

For Sale at a Low Rate,

Situated on Moose River, in the town of Greig, Lewis County, New York.

Said timber consisting of White Hemlock, Spruce, Pine and Hardwood The subscribers own two large tanneries, located on the aforesaid street, which will consume the hemlock bark, thus enabling the land and timber to be purchased at a comparatively cheap rate. The timber is excellent in quality in all particulars The aforesaid tract of land is easy of access, being only from six to fifteen miles from both the Black River R R and Black River Canal, which lead direct to the Albany Market. The land is comparatively level, well watered and good for farming purposes. Moose River, which extends through the tract, is a large stream and empties into Black River, where the aforesaid Canal leads into Black River At this point or junction of the rivers, is a fall of sixty (60) feet, over which the waters of both rivers flow, thus forming an unlimited water power, (we might say right in the Canal and at the Depot,) to which Moose River will carry the immense amount of timber from the aforesaid lands

Any parties desiring to manufacture lumber will do well to give this rare opportunity their attention. The land and timber can be purchased at a cheap rate or the timber alone permitted.

For further particulars address
